OFFICIAL X-FILES SHOOTING SCRIPTS

It is an unprecedented occasion: for the first time we can exclusively offer shooting scripts from the world's greatest television series, authorized by Twentieth Century Fox and The X-Files Production Office.

This is a great way to learn about writing, follow stage directions, and have fun acting out the series with friends. Or, best of all, pop in your videos and follow along! The first five offerings are all written by series creator/producer Chris Carter and they are:

ITEM DD • "DEEP THROAT" (first aired September 17, 1993) Acting on a tip from "Deep Throat", Mulder and Scully travel to Idaho to investigate disappearances of army test pilots. The first appearance of Jerry Hardin's "Deep Throat".

ITEM EE • "FIRE" (first aired December 17, 1993) Mulder and Scully encounter an assassin who can start fires with the touch of his hand. Guest starring Mark Sheppard and Amanda Pays. Featuring the famous "black silk boxer shorts" scene.

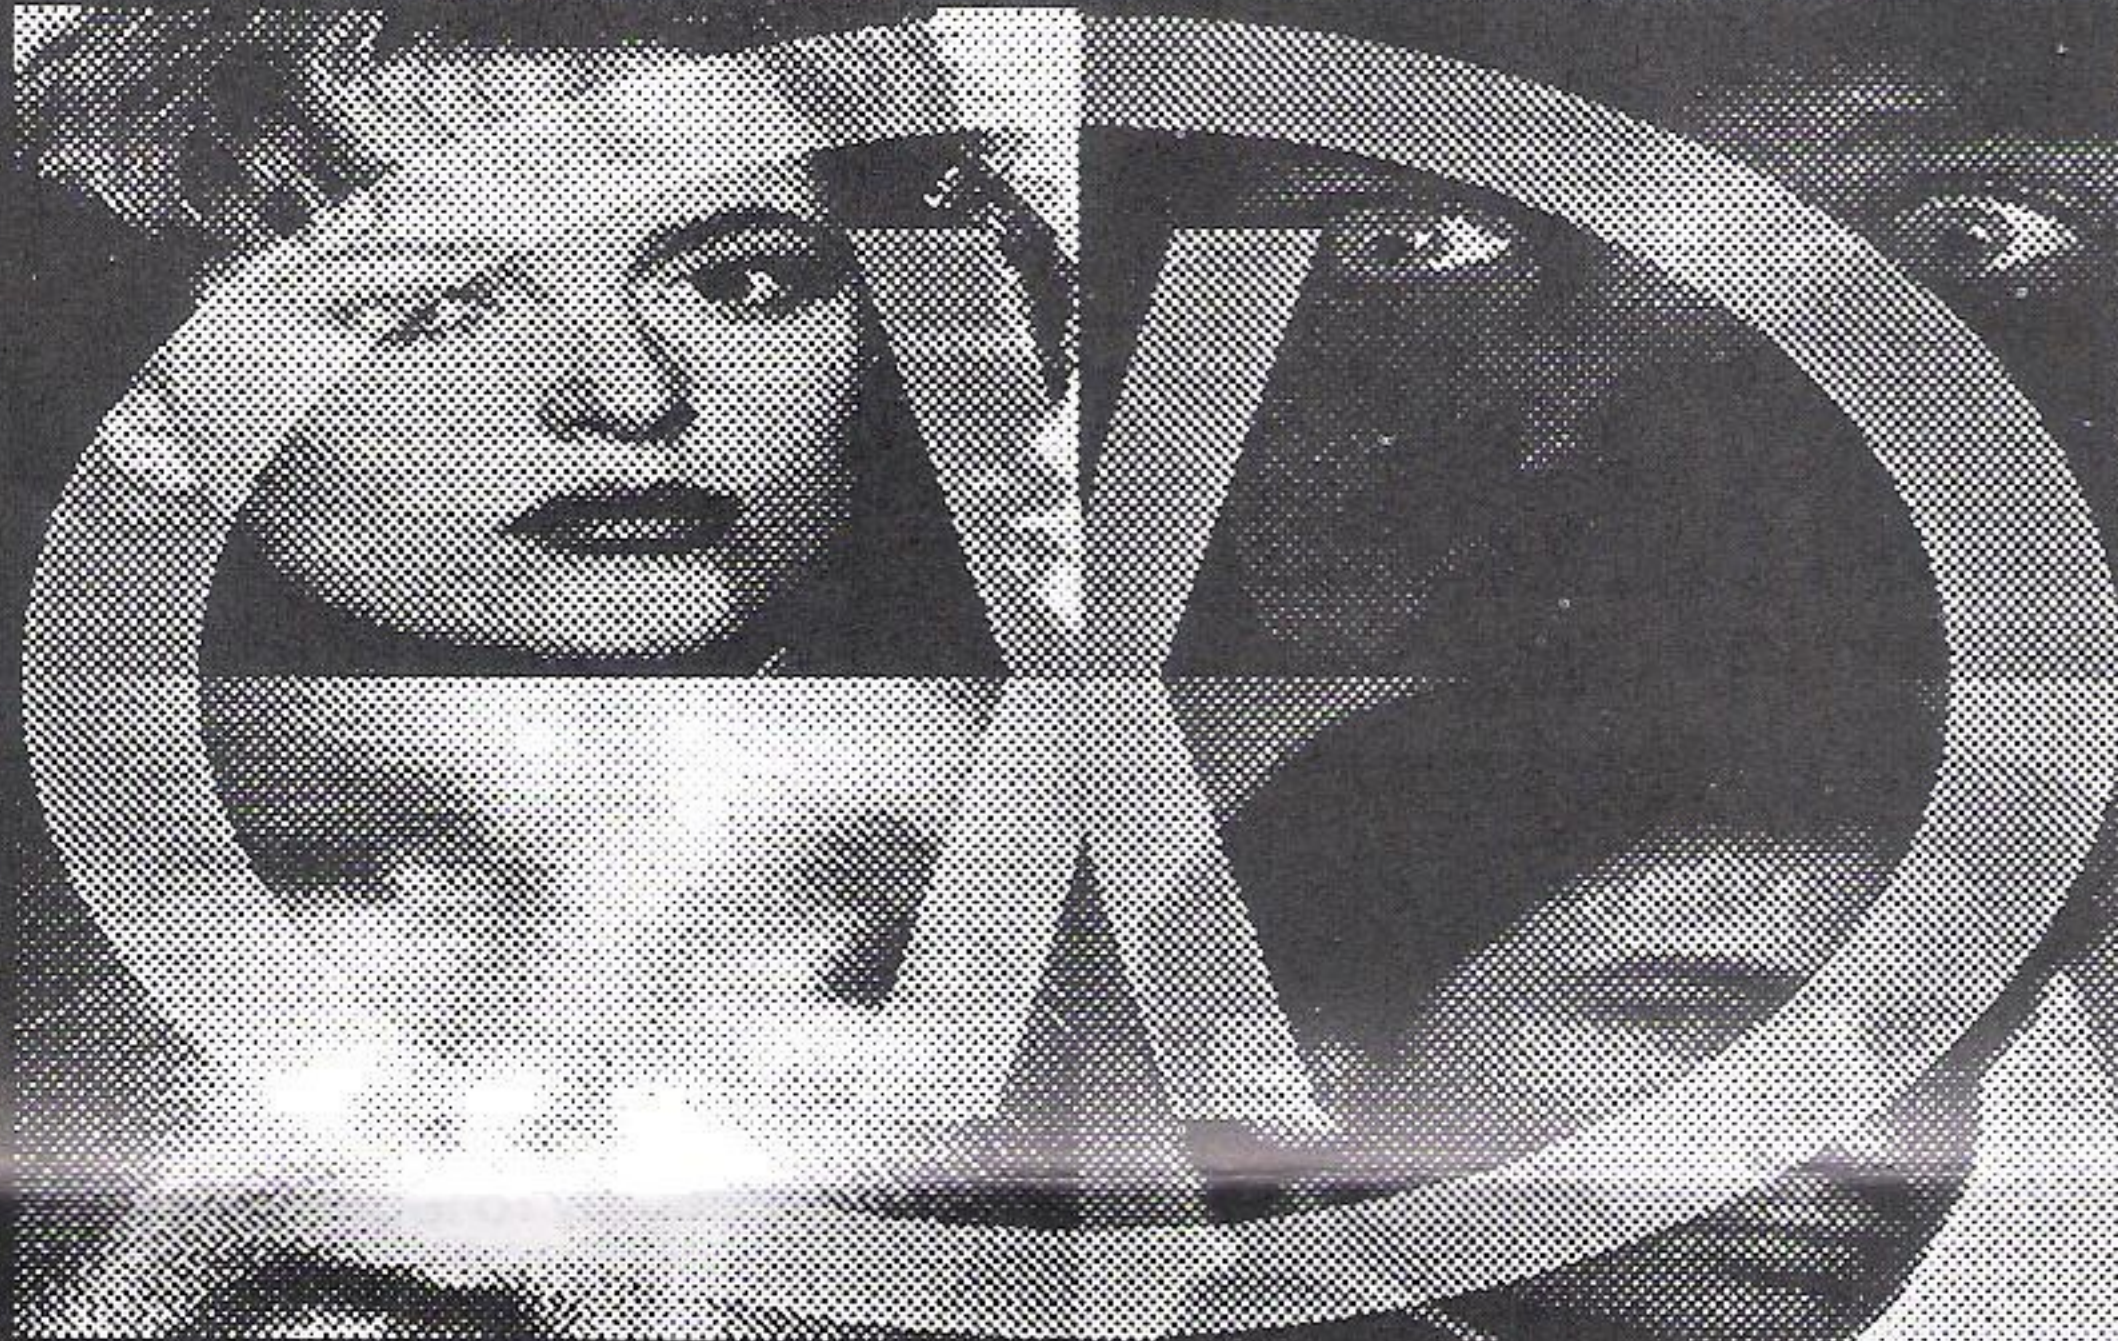

ITEM FF • "DARKNESS FALLS" (first aired April 15, 1994) Mulder and Scully are called in when loggers in a remote forest disappear. This episode was honored at the Environmental Media Awards.

ITEM GG • "RED MUSEUM" (first aired December 9, 1994) Mulder and Scully investigate a possible connection between a religious cult and the disappearance of several teenagers. This was the episode that was supposed to be tied into a similar storyline on the CBS series Picket Fences. Unfortunately, the idea was nixed.

ITEM HH • IRRESISTIBLE (first aired January 13, 1995). To us, this was one of the scarier of episodes, starring Nick Chinlund as a psycho who collects hair and fingernails from the dead and soon graduates to killing.

ALL SCRIPTS ARE $15 EACH. OFFICIAL X-FILES FAN CLUB MEMBER SPECIAL PRICE (using the coupon on the back page) IS ONLY $12 EACH. Members saving: $3 per script!
